NOW MAGAZINE'S BEST YOUTH ORGANIZATION IN TORONTO - READERS CHOICE

Since the beginning of the pandemic, LGBT YouthLine has been consistently adapting to ensure that 2SLGBTQ+ youth had someone to turn to during a time when in-person groups shut down and isolation was at its peak. In this report, we outline a year full of change, growth, and most importantly, resilience.

This report is dedicated to all our volunteers, staff, Board members, and supporters who made sure we could – and continue to – show up stronger than ever for 2SLGBTQ+ youth in Ontario.

Our Mission

LGBT YouthLine is a 2SLGBTQ youth-led organization that affirms and supports the experiences of youth (29 and under) across Ontario.

We do this by:

- Providing anonymous peer support and referrals;
- Training youth to provide support to other youth; and
- Providing resources so youth can make informed decisions.

Land Acknowledgement

LGBT YouthLine works in the place often referred to as Ontario, which continues to be colonized land, and is home to many Indigenous communities. Our head office is located in Tkaronto (Toronto), which is the territory of the Wendat and Petun First Nations, the Seneca, and most recently, the Mississaugas of the Credit River. Today, the meeting place of Tkaronto remains home to many Indigenous peoples across Turtle Island. YouthLine works in this context and on this territory with a continued commitment towards Indigenous solidarity.

Letter from the Executive Director and Board Co-Chairs

As we reach the end of 2021, it's no exaggeration to say that this has been a year of both transformation and achievement. Amidst enormous changes and challenges within the non-profit sector as well as the wider world, LGBT YouthLine has not only continued to deliver crucial support to youth across the province, but also made great progress in the endless work of transforming how we work to ensure that our community's needs and values continue to come first.

We have all faced a year of loss and loneliness, and despite this our staff and volunteers showed up. They showed up for the youth we serve, they showed up for each other, and they showed up for 2SLGBTQ+ individuals everywhere by demonstrating their amazing resilience and compassion even when the world seems to be on fire. Or perhaps, because it is.

We as a community, particularly youth, have suffered for the loss of opportunities to gather in person during a time when we already had precious few places to do so safely. YouthLine made the difficult but ultimately prescient decision to close our service room and commit to a fully remote model, well before many other companies and organizations realized they needed to make similar changes, and were able to do so smoothly and with minimal interruption because our team recognized what was at stake and what was needed.

LGBT YouthLine exists to ensure that no member of our community is isolated during a crisis, and that principle has guided us during a time of global crisis to not only survive but to seize opportunities to do better. We saw that a remote HelpLine was more than a temporary measure, but a chance to rethink how we could best serve and represent our community while opening new doors of accessibility. Our amazing peer support team not only made the transition look easy (it was not!) but showed unimaginable dedication even as the pandemic dragged on. In one instance, a volunteer connected from China to make sure they made their HelpLine shift – and that's just one example of their commitment out of dozens. Our leadership programs, YouthOrganize and the Provincial Youth Ambassador Program, have not only continued during this challenging time, but become even more meaningful as they create and strengthen connections between 2SLGBTQ+ youth no matter their circumstance or where in Ontario they might be.

We are so grateful to every member of the organization for giving their all, every day of an unprecedentedly hard year. And we are grateful to you, everyone who's reading this, for your support – whether that's through donations of time or money, through the care you've shown us when we've needed it, or through the way you share the stories of our successes and struggles. It's impossible to know what kind of challenges 2022 will bring, but we know that LGBT YouthLine will continue to thrive in the face of adversity, by showing up and doing what's needed as best we can and for as long as we can. It's what we do. And we are grateful for our community, that shows up with us.

With love and care,

Peer Support HelpLine

Just one day after the closures, we were ready to come back on chat and text as a fully remote operation, while our phones stayed offline.

Our landlines could not operate remotely, and volunteers needed more training and resources if they were to continue supporting youth over the phone, as that is where we receive more acute crisis and prank calls. We needed to focus on strengthening our volunteer training program so that volunteers could feel safe and supported on shift. The temporary phone closure gave us a moment of pause to reflect on how to best transition to a fully remote phone operation.

During a time when many programs and services shut down indefinitely and isolation was at its worst for 2SLGBTQ+ youth, we knew our HelpLine was needed more than ever.

Our whole team understood the importance of our HelpLine for 2SLGBTQ+ youth in Ontario and immediately adapted to the rapid changes, even as they experienced their own challenges. We shifted our operations virtually but knew that we needed long-term solutions to meet the growing demand of our HelpLine in a remote context.

March 17th, 2020:

HelpLine shuts down following government announcement of closures

March 18th, 2020:

April 2020:

Past volunteers come back to support growth and demand

While our volunteers showed up day after day to support their peers, our HelpLine demand grew 30% in the first few weeks of the lockdown, and we needed a way to ensure our youth volunteers could also take time off.

So, we asked for help.

Ten people – YouthLine alumni and former shift supervisors – came back to volunteer their time during those first few months of the pandemic. The support they provided was essential, not just for youth contacting our lines, but for the health of our volunteers and staff as well.

Our Peer Support volunteers especially showed their deep commitment to youth in the province. They knew our service was indispensable, and did whatever it took to show up. One volunteer joined us from China every morning at 5AM! Our community was there for us at a crucial time. We could not have sustained the lines if not for our volunteers – past and current – and their willingness to come back when we needed them.

“[Volunteering at YouthLine] has been one of the best things of being stuck inside.”

- Peer Support HelpLine volunteer

With a new cohort of Peer Support volunteers slated to begin in early April, our staff worked hard to revamp training materials to support our first-ever, fully remote cohort of volunteers.

May - July 2020:

First group of youth trained through a revamped virtual training

June 2020:

Chat and text services launch on a new mobile-friendly platform

September 2020:

YouthLine publicly announces its decision to become a fully remote HelpLine

Even before the pandemic, we were evaluating the accessibility of our HelpLine. We realized that not having a mobile-friendly chat and text platform created barriers to youth reaching the HelpLine, especially since we were limited to only chat and text.

We worked with a dedicated group of technology professionals to launch SnapEngage. SnapEngage met the needs for a mobile and user-friendly interface while ensuring the safety and anonymity of our youth when confidential support was needed more than ever. The completion of this project could not have come at a better time.

Once we went fully remote, new possibilities and programming changes began to unfold. This was an opportunity for us to truly meet our provincial mandate.

Working out of our service room and hosting in-person trainings, we were previously limited to Toronto-based volunteers. We had been wanting to expand our HelpLine team to other parts of Ontario, but knew it would have taken much time and resources to execute. With the lockdown requiring us to go remote, what would have taken a few more years only took us a few weeks to pull off.

We were now able to welcome 2SLGBTQ+ youth to join us from anywhere in Ontario. In Fall 2020 we were finally able to welcome 2SLGBTQ+ youth to join us from anywhere in Ontario. After reviewing 71 applications, we accepted 15 new volunteers into YouthLine’s first-ever, province-wide Peer Support HelpLine training.

Around this time, we also publicly announced an implementation plan outlining a new tiered training and service model.

Time and time again, we are shown that 2SLGBTQ+ are the ones holding space for each other during crises.

Saying Goodbye to the Service Room

With change comes loss. Implementing a fully remote HelpLine meant saying goodbye to our service room, an integral part of YouthLine for years.

And it was a hard goodbye. For our volunteers, it wasn't just a workspace to clock in and out of their shifts. It was a cherished space that they made their own - filled with meaningful memories, traditions, and knickknacks. It was like a little cozy clubhouse for our community.

Volunteers were grieving the loss of the service room, a reprieve for those who did not have many other spaces where they could be their authentic, 2SLGBTQ+ selves.

But where there was grief, there was also celebration.

During this period, HelpLine staff and volunteers came together to bid farewell to the service room and share their fond memories of the space – grabbing snacks from the shelves, making a warm cup of tea, and sitting by the glow of twinkle lights while preparing for shift.

Not only was this an opportunity for us to reminisce about the past, it also opened up the discussion of how we can look towards the future and maintain a strong sense of community even at a distance.

We wanted to honour those beautiful moments of joy that volunteers found in our space. For instance, in a care package, volunteers received their own set of twinkle lights to hang up in their own spaces.

Aspects of our physical service room live on in many ways as staff and volunteers imagine and reimagine what a changing virtual service room looks like.

The Unicorn Bell

The Unicorn Bell is a HelpLine tradition, dating as far back as we can remember. Whenever a volunteer would take their very first phone call after training, a Shift Supervisor would ring the bell. Now, we ring the bell over video call when each new volunteer cohort completes a virtual shadowing cycle, to signify the end of their training.

January-March 2021

Staff facilitate a new multi-week training to prepare volunteers for remote phone support

“Nothing short of the most caring and inclusive experience of my life.”

- Peer Support Helpline volunteer

Prior to the pandemic, our Helpline volunteers supported 2SLGBTQ+ youth from our service room under the guidance of a shift supervisor.

Acute crisis occurs on the phones more often than any other medium.

Given that youth volunteers would be taking calls mostly unsupervised, they needed additional training to ensure that they have the information, resources, and tools to confidently support other youth.

Our staff developed a two-tiered training program to accommodate the needs of remote learners and improve volunteer capacity and retention.

Tier 1 prepares trainees to provide chat and text support, while Tier 2 provides volunteers with additional skills to take phone calls, after gaining experience on the chat and text service for a period of time.

From January to March, we virtually trained 13 Helpline volunteers to take calls, and were finally able to re-launch our phone service.

“Hearing that I’ve been a positive impact on someone’s day is one of the most fulfilling feelings I get!”

- Peer Support volunteer

We re-launched our phone lines two days short of a full year after we had shut them down. Without access to our landlines, we needed a solution for our Helpline volunteers to take phone calls directly over the Internet.

Just like our chat and text service, maintaining anonymity on our phone lines was necessary. Eager to bring back our phone service, our team searched for a new remote telephone system. Our months-long process led us to select 3CX as our Voice-over-Internet Protocol (VoIP) system. 3CX does not store our service users’ phone numbers or locations, maintaining their privacy and anonymity.

The planning and execution of these technological changes was not an easy feat in the midst of mass panic and uncertainty. Implementing new technology meant our volunteers and staff were in a constant state of learning and adapting; it also meant coordinating with external partners and teams who were undergoing challenges and layoffs of their own.

Thanks to the tremendous patience, flexibility, and commitment from all of those involved, we got through it in the name of community care.

March 15 2021

Phone lines re-launch virtually with limited hours, maintaining anonymity

We went into the year not knowing what it would look like. We didn't anticipate extended lockdowns and isolation, and certainly didn't expect the loss of our service room.

This year taught us that despite all the barriers 2SLGBTQ+ youth face – pandemic or not – our resilience and drive to support each other was instrumental in getting through the worst parts. For us, the youth are thriving.

To commemorate everything that the YouthLine community collectively experienced this year, we commissioned Vale, a long-time HelpLine volunteer and now Operations Coordinator, to create a t-shirt as a final tribute to the service room.

HelpLine volunteers brainstormed what they wanted on the shirt, voting for an affirmational phrase and providing suggestions for imagery.

It was difficult to narrow down a favourite, so in addition to the phrase on the front – “the youth are thriving” – Vale incorporated several ideas into the design on the back.

The final shirt features meaningful motifs, representing the service room and the community we'd built over the years in the space: the orange couch where volunteers would relax and do puzzles in between calls; the many debates about the best snacks (Dunkaroos) and alternative milk products (oat milk) for the service room fridge; fidget/stim toys to help team members focus (the hand twirling the phone cord), and a huge inventory of identity buttons (the circles at the top). The phone and outbound mail reference the different ways in which service users connect with YouthLine, while the phone cord and retro-inspired colour scheme are a nod to our start in the 90s.

We are indebted to our volunteers – they supported us just as much as we hope to support them, and we hope that this t-shirt serves as a joyful reminder of their hours spent with the YouthLine team.

PEER SUPPORT HELPLINE

Throughout this time of constant change and uncertainty, our commitment to showing up for 2SLGBTQ+ youth extended to showing up for our staff and volunteers. We could not overlook that our team was also deeply impacted by the isolation, grief, and upheaval caused by the pandemic. As a youth-led organization offering compassionate support to the 2SLGBTQ+ community, we recognize that we need to be intentional about relationship-building and offering support internally as well. With the inevitable disconnection caused by remote operations and an online team environment, we had to get creative and think about how to start building more supportive structures and practices for our volunteers. This included establishing check-ins before and after every shift, debrief spaces with mental health professionals, virtual group chats and hangouts, and care packages for every team member.

As our volunteer pool doubled, we decided to restructure our staff team to support these new changes and practices. We hired a second Peer Support Program Coordinator and moved shift supervisors to Program Assistants, with increased hours, pay, and responsibilities. While we have made great strides in strengthening operations and implementing internal support initiatives, adapting to these changes is still an ongoing process as we (re)organize budgets and look for new ways to prioritize volunteer and staff wellbeing.

What's Next

Despite this year's challenges, our community ensured we could continue to show up for 2SLGBTQ+ youth in Ontario. Just like our staff and volunteers, the generosity and care of our donors and funders meant that we could focus on the work without worry about financial resources.

In this year, we continue to move forward on actualizing a sustainable remote HelpLine. We are currently implementing an e-Learning Management System, which will allow us the stability to provide accessible training to youth across the province. By the Spring of 2022, we will have the capacity to take on more volunteers with a stronger training program, that we can continue to build on as youth needs evolve.

With the generosity of our community, YouthLine continues to invest resources to grow our staff team, improve our tech and program infrastructures, increase volunteer supports, and expand our reach to 2SLGBTQ+ youth in every part of Ontario.

PYAP Provincial Youth Ambassador Program

While PYAP was always intended to operate in an online environment, it was anticipated that there would also be in-person gatherings such as retreats and project launches. However, the pandemic meant PYAP had to be shifted to an entirely virtual model. The staff and Youth Ambassadors (YAs) found creative ways to build community and relationships through online socials, games, and skillshares.

To better meet the needs of YAs across Ontario, the staffing structure of PYAP shifted to a "Regional Assistant" model with an assistant in each region: North-East, North-West, and Southern Ontario.

Retention of YAs became difficult as we moved further into the winter months. The YAs grappled with competing responsibilities, hard life circumstances, and the realities of existing as a 2SLGBTQ+ youth during a global pandemic in a volunteer position. As a result, some YAs left the program before the official end date.

Nonetheless, it was clear that the YAs were able to build relationships with one another, develop skills, and create amazing projects together!

This year brought a very exciting launch of YouthOrganize in its new iteration!

YouthOrganize brings 2SLGBTQ+ youth together from Peel and Halton regions to build skills, community and initiatives that supports the needs of local 2SLGBTQ+ communities. YouthOrganize is funded for three consecutive years, which brings exciting possibilities of longer-term projects and initiatives.

The first year of YO has been full of growth and learning. The program experienced many adaptations, especially given the fact that it was originally intended to be an in-person program, but had to shift to be fully remote. The program was adapted multiple times to better fit the needs of volunteers, and continues to be adapted into the new fiscal.

After two rounds of recruitment, the first cohort of YouthOrganize volunteers began in the fall with 16 youth from Peel and Halton regions.

The first cohort has been busy working on their initiatives, and are looking forward to launching them in the coming months. Some projects include a 2SLGBTQ+ Employment Safety Guide, a Service Provider Audit, Comedy Drop-In, and a Workplace Safety Workshop.

"I got to think about needs in my community, and think of ways to meet those with the support of a great crew of others."

#DoBetter:
2SLGBTQ+ Youth
Recommendations for Change in Ontario

In March 2021, we launched: “Do Better: 2SLGBTQ+ Youth Recommendations for Change in Ontario.”

The Do Better report draws from the 2019-2020 PYAP Needs Assessment, where almost 1200 2SLGBTQ+ youth across Ontario shared their insights. The 7 Recommendations target all sectors across Ontario, specifically those in positions of power, and demand systemic change.

As part of our launch strategy, we hosted five webinars, each with a unique panel of 2SLGBTQ+ youth and a guest moderator with direct experience in the area of focus. The webinar focuses were Social Services, Health Care, Education, Rural/Northern Ontario, and Trans/Gender-Diverse Youth. We also hosted a 2SLGBTQ+ youth-only session focused on the “Taking Action” Tool found on the website.

Our webinars generated a ton of positive feedback, follow-up emails, presentation requests, and orders for our outreach material.

From the feedback, we will be creating a #DoBetter toolkit that will provide information needed for folks to do presentations within their own communities, schools, and organizations.

Ensuring 2SLGBTQ+ youth in Catholic Schools have supports

In January 2021, Toronto Catholic District School Board (TCDSB) removed YouthLine from their website’s list of resources. The removal was in response to a harmful article smearing the validity and age-appropriateness of YouthLine’s website and work.

On January 11th, we released a public statement demanding the TCDSB immediately re-instate LGBT YouthLine in their resources for youth. This issue brought out a wave of support for YouthLine’s work, with the issue covered in major media outlets. While TCDSB acknowledged their mistake and re-instated YouthLine, this issue led YouthLine to dig a bit deeper into English Catholic School Boards across Ontario. We found that 85% of the websites for English Catholic School Board in Ontario did not list any resources for 2SLGBTQ+ students. Of the 15% that do, three of them only list YouthLine while one also lists TransLifeLine. You can read more about our research here.

Since then, we have seen students rally for school boards in Ontario to share information about 2SLGBTQ+ services and resources with their students. YouthLine continues to support youth leaders, and build our capacity, to ensure that we can advocate for every school in Ontario to have access to YouthLine’s and other 2SLGBTQ+ resources,

Outreach & Partnerships

(in a Remote Environment)

Even during times of social isolation and physical distancing, we found ways to connect with communities and organizations throughout Ontario. Throughout the year, we connected with over 40 organizations, Pride collectives, and groups to virtually deliver presentations, speak on panels and conferences, and to just connect and share resources about supporting 2SLGBTQ+ youth!

Some highlights include:

-  YouthLine staff co-facilitating a conversation with Adam Garnet Jones, author of "Fire Song," through The Fold – Festival of Literary Diversity in Canada.
-  YouthOrganize guest appearing on "Peel Matters" on Sauga 960am to talk about youth organizing in Peel.
-  Working collaboratively with "I-Think" and 50+ elementary school students to address systemic issues of homophobia and transphobia within schools.
-  A YouthLine voice on the YouthRex Panel "Cultivating Online Community for Youth."
-  PYAP sharing info about YouthLine to youth from Timmins Youth Wellness Hub.

Staying

Staying Connected

#Dare2Imagine Pride Campaign

Every year, LGBT YouthLine uses the opportunity of Pride season to recognize the resilience and adaptivity of 2SLGBTQ+ youth, celebrate the joys of 2SLGBTQ+ existence and community, and reflect on the continued barriers to security and well-being for those impacted by transphobia, homophobia, and intersecting marginalization.

This Pride season was different. We were at home, we were connecting virtually, we were protecting our communities by practicing social distancing, and as a result, our celebrations of queerness and communities looked different than what we were used to.

In 2020, we wanted folks to #Dare2Imagine a world that is better, safer, and more affirming for 2SLGBTQ+ youth. During Pride, we invited everyone to #Dare2Imagine a new normal that protects, supports, and celebrates 2SLGBTQ+ youth.

To encourage connection, we ran a 30-day photo challenge that celebrates who we are as a 2SLGBTQ+ community.

Our 2020 Pride campaign encouraged people to #Dare2Imagine:

- The spaces and places that 2SLGBTQ+ youth are part of
- The places we dream of
- And the future we want to have, and continue to create

Snail Mail for the Holidays

During this year of isolation, we were always looking for ways to connect with each other and our communities. The holidays were no different – what should be a time of joy and celebration can often already be isolating and difficult for 2SLGBTQ+ folks.

To support connection during the holiday season, we commissioned three 2SLGBTQ+ youth artists – Aneel, Beena, and Lilah – to create holiday cards, which were offered to our youth volunteers, staff, board, and BFFs (monthly donors).

In December, our team was also thrilled to be invited to share a billboard at Yonge and Dundas Square with Carly Rae Jepsen!

Support Our Growing Team

Unique challenges arose as we entered the pandemic and had to shift to a completely virtual working and service model. To accommodate our changing needs and growth at YouthLine, we expanded our team by hiring staff to support our operations.

We sought systems and technical solutions to increase internal communications, create a Virtual Service Room, and manage our Leadership Programs completely online. With the addition of an Operations Coordinator, we were able to prioritize these needs, creating internal processes and structures to better support our growing HelpLine and Leadership Programs.

We also knew that we needed to find ways to connect with and support our staff, volunteers, and Board members at a time when nobody could meet up in person.

Some ways included:

- Two rounds of COVID-relief funding made available for volunteers in March, 2020 and December, 2020
- Mailing care packages to staff, volunteers, and Board members
- Creating internet and space setup stipends for staff
- Creating an access fund for volunteers to support virtual volunteering

As of September 2021, our Operations Team has three staff members who continue to figure out ways to better support, show up, and create community for the YouthLine team, which is now across Ontario.

To meet the changing needs of YouthLine and our communities, we launched a pilot initiative called #Dare2Workshops, a series of entry-level workshops designed to teach the basics of a specific skill.

Thanks you so much to all the individuals and families that donate to us! Your generosity during this difficult year has really allowed us to know our community has our back while we focused on support 2SLGBTQ+ youth.

We aren't naming our individual donors as many chose to remain anonymous or not be publicly acknowledged for their contributions. Our donors are an important part of our community and support network, that make it possible for us to continue to be here 27 years later.

We couldn't do this work without you so THANK YOU for supporting our work <3

We love the messages we get from our donors!

Here's a few...

On behalf of my daughter, who came out to me this year. I know that a lot of youth may not have the same support she does at home. Thank you for providing the support line.

Thank you for all that you do to support LGBTQ+ youth. ~ proud mom of a transgender son.

I wish this had existed as I was growing up! This is an amazing thing you are all doing.

Thank you for everything you do. Especially when we cannot come together this year, what you do is even more important. <3

Our Team

During a year like no other, we want to acknowledge the dedication and commitment of our Peer Support HelpLine volunteers, who made sure our lines remained open, and our alum, who came back to support the HelpLine when we needed them.

Our confidentiality policies don't allow us to list all of our wonderful volunteers publicly. However, the work we do would not be possible without the incredible individual and collective efforts of all of our Peer Support volunteers, Youth Ambassadors, YouthOrganize volunteers, and committee volunteers.

Thank you for showing your love by supporting thousands of youth in the past year!
